A student admitted to the Historic Preservation program who holds in-state residence status for purposes of tuition assessment in a WICHE member state may use this form to apply for the WRGP program to be considered an Oregon resident for tuition purposes only. The student must prove to the university's satisfaction that he/she is a resident of Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, or Wyoming.

State of Residence:

This form must be filed each year in order to renew your eligibility for in-state tuition assessment.

Note: If you leave the Historic Preservation program to pursue another University of Oregon master's program, you will no longer be eligible for in-state tuition assessment under this program.

New applicants only: You must provide at least two of the following documents to demonstrate that you are a resident of a WICHE member state.

1. Copy of a valid driver's license from the home state.
2. Copy of your most recent state tax filing from the home state (or your parent's, if you are claimed as a dependent).
3. Copies of rent receipts, lease, letter from landlord, canceled checks, or home purchase agreement verifying residence in the home state.
4. Recent paystub or employment contract demonstrating employment in the home state.
5. Copy of vehicle registration in the home state.

I certify that the above information is a true statement of my degree seeking intentions at the University of Oregon and that I understand the policies outlined above.

For students pursuing the Historic Preservation program concurrently with another UO master's program:

Your signature below indicates your understanding that as concurrent master's degree student (i.e., Historic Preservation /Architecture, Historic Preservation/Landscape Architecture, etc.) you must complete the Historic Preservation degree within three calendar years from your first term of enrollment in the Historic Preservation program in order to retain the WRGP eligibility for the remaining period of time it takes to complete the second degree (up to a total of seven years from the date of admission). If you choose to pursue concurrent degrees and do not complete the Historic Preservation major within three years of the term of admission, then you will be assessed non-resident tuition for the remainder of your graduate studies at the University of Oregon.
